THE SUCCESSFUL STUDENT:
A Well Rounded Individual

Though the Woodward Academy student is expected to meet high standards in a variety of areas, each student is given the freedom and opportunity to choose his own course toward success. He is exposed to a varied curriculum from which he can excell in Academics, Athletics, Fine Arts or in a Leadership capacity. Each student is encouraged to take part in any activity which interests him, maintaining a certain quality of excellence and integrity. Although easily said, it is not so easily done. In order to attain this excellence a student has to balance his time, giving each of his pursuits adequate concentration.

If the student's choice is to become an academic success, then he must make use of the library, hone his study skills, and if his needs warrant extra help, take advantage of tutorial.

If he chooses to strive for excellence in athletics, he must be prepared for long, hard hours of punishing practice. He must know what is expected of him and how he should perform. He must also be aware of and accept the fact that his entire athletic career could be spent as a "benchwarmer".

To be successful in the realm of fine arts, the student must publicly exhibit his talents, opening himself up to the criticism of his peers. The fine arts student must be finely attuned to his world to be able to visually express his own interpretation of his environment.

A chosen few of the student body excell in the area of leadership. The successful leader must have those qualities which set him apart from the rest. The student leader has the support of the students he represents and is known for his ability to lead and make decisions.

Regardless of the area in which a Woodward student prefers to spend his time and effort, each student is a success. A Woodward student is the continuation of a grand heritage and an investment for the future.

THE SCHOLAR:
An Academic Success

Every student enters Woodward Academy with high expectations of academic success, planning to utilize the multitude of opportunities to be found within the Academy. Each student is given an equal opportunity for academic achievement, and all students are encouraged in their endeavors. The student who excels academically is one who takes advantage of every opportunity set before him. The quest for knowledge is endless, and can be found in every area of life. The outstanding student questions everything and seeks answers in the world around him, taking nothing for granted. Like the athlete and the artist, the true scholar must be dedicated and determined. He must be willing to push himself and not be satisfied until he has reached the goals he has set for himself.

THE ARTIST:
An Expressionist

The Artist represents the creativity that is within all of us. This hidden aspect of our personality may be expressed through painting, music, dance, photography or other forms. Perhaps unknowingly, each of us desires to express openly the innermost part of our artistic being.

At Woodward every opportunity is available to that student who wishes to reveal and express that "artistic bent". The question is not, "How good are you artistically?" but "How much do you want to try?" To this result, Woodward attempts to expose each student to a wide variety of the visual and performing arts on both an individual level as well as a group level. To act, to sing, to dance, to paint fulfills many of the soaring dreams of some of our untapped creative resources. At Woodward, creative potential is given a stimulus, a push into expressing that part of us which reflects qualities that enhance our lives.

THE ATHLETE:
One Who Endures

The Athlete is that person who pushes his body to its physical limits. More often than not, reaching one's physical goals requires endurance, stamina and the ability to ignore the pain and exhaustion that always accompany such feats.

As the Athlete is required to practice daily, he is frequently the last person to leave the campus each day. He comes to Woodward early in the dark to swim lap after lap or is on the practice field in the late afternoon running every play or drill until perfect. The Athlete endlessly dribbles basketballs, runs until his legs cramp or hits countless numbers of softballs or baseballs. The Athlete is constantly made aware of the increasing frailty of the body and the toll of time involved. Sweat, constant hard work and the ever-fearful possibility of injury are daily reminders of his challenges.

The Athlete exemplifies the ongoing process of the ability to survive and triumph in that portion of Woodward's life which requires him to utilize his mind, his talents, his goals and the endurance to meet those goals.

THE SCHOOL:
A Learning Environment

Woodward Academy boasts an 82 year history of educational excellence equalled by few other schools. With a student body numbering over 1600 students, the Academy is large enough to offer a diverse curriculum to meet the various needs of its student body, yet small enough to reach out to the individual. The Academy's four schools offer a spiraling curriculum, creating a continuity throughout the student's educational experience, and insuring proper preparation for the student's future educational needs. The two Academy elementary branches — the Busey School in Riverdale and the Lower School on Main Campus — give the student an educational basis upon which he may build. The Middle School serves as an intermediary between the Lower and Upper Schools. The discipline found in the Lower School is combined with the independence of the Upper School, preparing the student to take the initiative in his educational experience. The Upper School gives the student an opportunity to seek out knowledge in areas which interest him, while providing the proper foundation for his college career.

Woodward Academy seeks to whet the educational appetite of each student, teaching him to strive for excellence in all areas, and knowledge of the world around him.

Gresham Chapel* is used by all four schools within the Academy. It houses both Jewish and Catholic chapels, along with the larger Protestant Chapel. 5. The R.L. Brand Middle School building houses the Academy's Campus Store as well as the Middle School classrooms. 6. Lower School students enjoy the chance to get outdoors while on their way to P.E. classes in the gym adjoining Tucker Hall.

Testing

Testing. To the student this word brings visions of endless essays or multitudes of multiple choice questions. Though rarely one of the student's favorite activities, testing is a necessary educational evil; for it is only through testing that the student's comprehension of a theory or idea may be evaluated. Students are tested constantly throughout their academic career in a vareity of ways. The standardized test, such as the S.A.T., is widely used by educators to check the progress of students at various levels as compared to their peers nationwide.

As the adept student soon learns, each form of testing requires its own form of studying. Thus, student's soon learn what to look for in studying for their various courses.

The essay question requires that the student have a solid knowledge of the subject, along with a good variety of supporting facts. The multiple choice and matching questions require that the student be able to recognize the answer that is most correct, even though several may be possible. This encourages the student to pay close attention to detail. The fill in the blank test requires specific knowledge along with a general overall understanding. Obviously, different courses lend themselves best to different styles of testing. It is the job of the student to understand a subject well enough to be able to discern which facts and theories are the most important and useful. Although testing may at times seem futile, it provides the student with a reason for learning material that may seem useless at the moment. However, knowledge is the most important possession any man may obtain, and testing is the instrument teachers may use to insure this knowledge is received.

The Second Degree

In order to meet the needs of every student, Woodward Academy offers two separate but related degree programs. These programs, College Preparatory and Academic, are designed to completely prepare the student for life outside the realm of Woodward.

Each of these areas carry the same graduation requirements, although the College Prep diploma requires a more competitive academic schedule which includes not only the standard required courses, but a varied selection of electives as well. There are three levels of courses within the College Prep program: regular prep, honors and advanced placement. Each designation represents graduated levels of difficulty, with Advanced Placement being the most difficult and demanding. Students passing the AP exam at year end with high scores may be exempt from college courses or receive college credit. The College Preparatory program is designed to prepare that student who is motivated to excel for entry into the college or university of his choice. The various levels of course offerings enables the student to progress at different rates according to his interests and abilities.

1. Chris Buttrill closely studies material before observing it under the microscope. 2. Jeff Miller pays close attention in Chemistry class. 3. Michelle DuBose finds that taking notes carefully in Mrs. Deacon's class helps her to prepare for tests. 4. Jon Bales remembers facts with which he will "ace" his test. 5. Nancy Peterson uses her free period to study, a wise use of time. 6. Randy Hutchinson takes notes while listening to a lecture. 7. Britt Matthiesson and Bryan Russo utilize the library for its helpful resources during their free period. 8. Margaret Powell watches the teacher's instruction to insure a complete understanding.

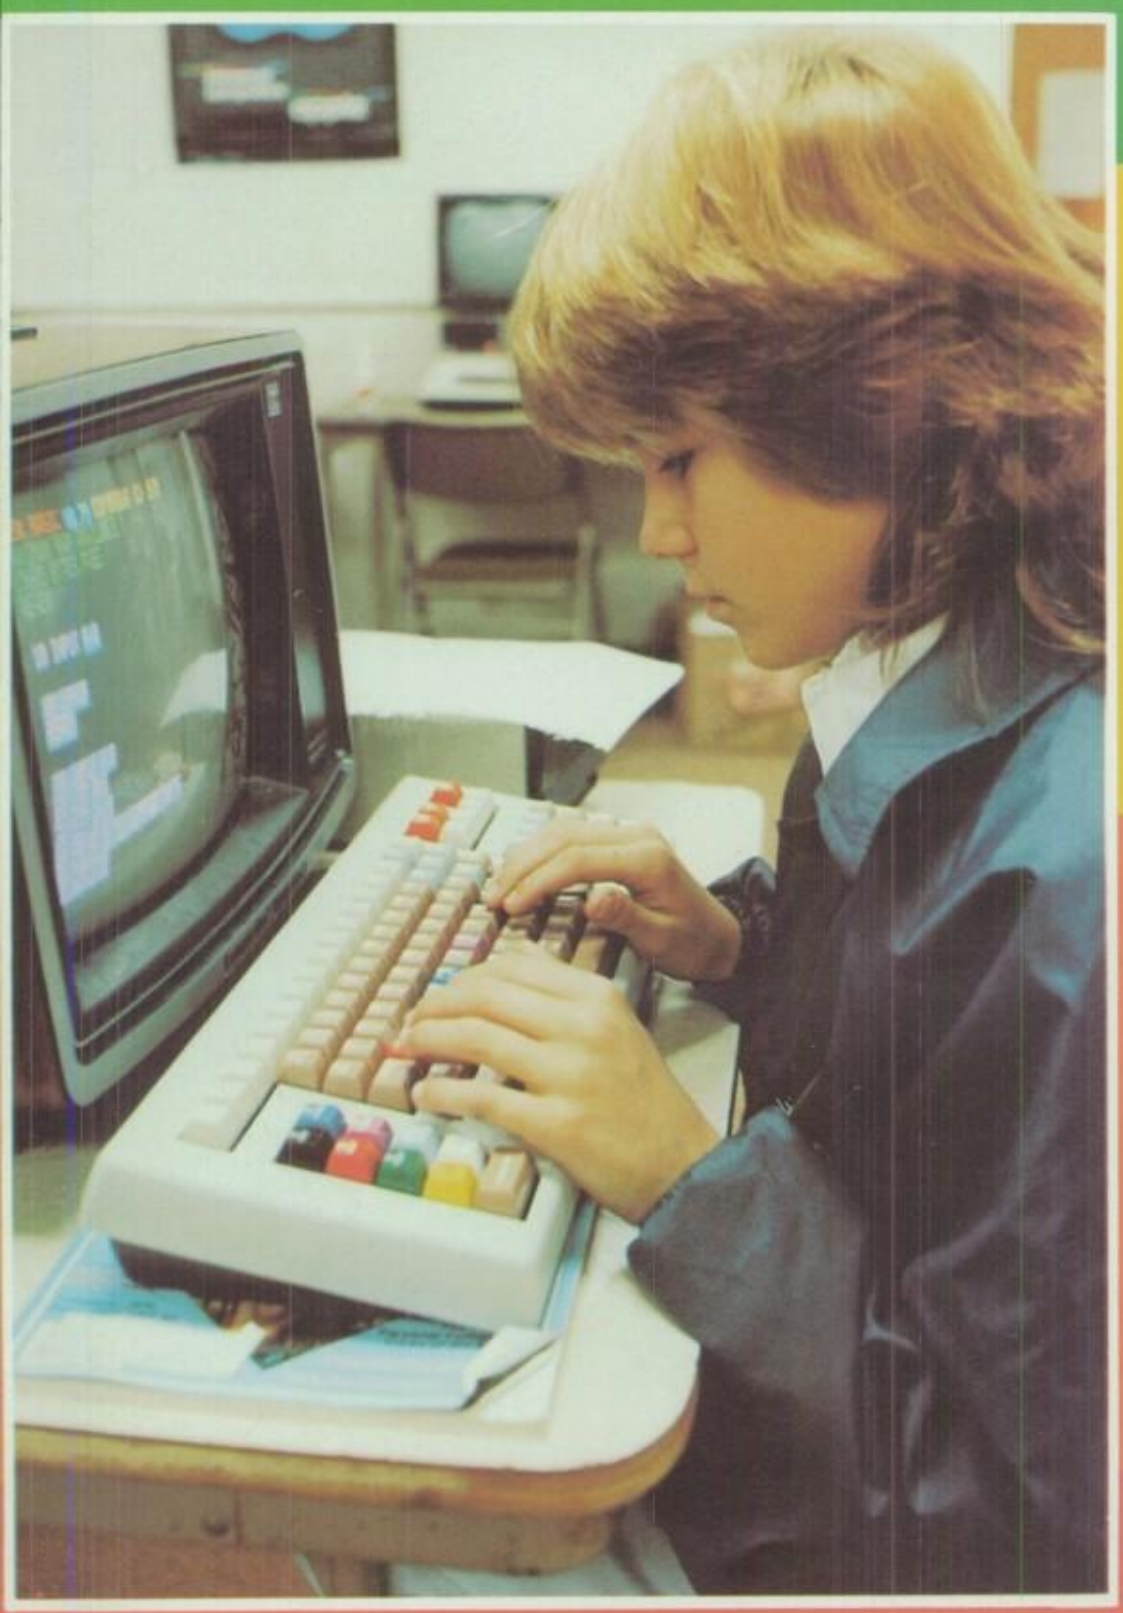
Computers



Computers have come to play an ever increasing role at Woodward Academy. The first NCR Computer system was installed in 1969. Since that time the Academy has continually found more uses for the computer system. As more and more businesses turn to computers, it is imperitive that the well-prepared student learn the basics of computer programming.

In order to meet this need, the Academy has added a computer science department headed by Dr. Charles G. Hixon. Every eighth grade student is required to take a computer literacy course which is designed to develop skills applicable to various high school courses. Courses in computer programming are also offered to Upper School students. At present the department has eight TSR 80's , eight Apple II's and eight Intercolor II's. This enables students to spend a good deal of time at the computer gaining "hands-on" experience which should prove valuable both within and outside the Academy.

1. Computer programming requires much practice in order to master the techniques and language. 2. Andrew Fischbach finds computer programming fascinating, and the possibilities for use, endless. 3. Trisha Francis programs a computer terminal in Dr. Hixon's class.

SCHOLARS:
Setting An Academic Example

Steve McCune is one of the most intelligent members of this years graduating class. As a scholar Steve has excelled in the Advanced Placement sphere of academic life. With his exceptional SAT scores, Steve is planning to attend M.I.T., to begin a career in engineering and medicine.

Steve is well-known in all areas of campus life. Not only a member of the Woodward Academy band, Steve has been band leader for the past four years. He is a member of the National French Honor Society and is completing his fourth year in French Honors. Steve is a National Merit semi-finalist and has participated in the Georgia Governor's Honors Program.

Steve has not yet confined himself to only one area of concentration. He is active in other phases of the Academy's programs. Steve has served with integrity on the Honor Council and is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Steve has been recognized for dedicated service on the Math and Debate teams. He has served as Interact secretary and was involved in SGA his sophomore and junior years.

Regardless of the fact that Steve McCune is an involved member of the Woodward community, he still must save time for homework, which he usually does in homeroom just like the rest of us.

Senior Martha Putman is an excellent example of a scholar. At Woodward since the eighth grade, Martha has annually received a Gold Eagle, Woodward's award for academic excellence.

Martha is a member of the Phoenix staff. She also belongs to Junior Civitan and National Honor Society. Martha is active in the French Honor Society as well as participating on the Math team.

When asked about her secret for maintaining good grades and study habits, Martha stated that once a student knows a teacher and what that teacher expects from students then you know exactly how and what to study. To keep those high grades will depend on how much time is dedicated to that study.

Matt McGuire is a continuation of the Woodward desire for excellence. Matt is a proven scholar. In his seventh year at the Academy, he has spent all of those years on Eagle Roll, with five of them on Gold Eagle. Matt is involved in many aspects of the Woodward experience. He is active in Interact and participates on the math team and has continually distinguished himself on the Debate Team, as well as serving on the Honor Council. Matt, however, does not only burrow his nose in books night after night. He plays soccer and tennis, and is a member of the WATV crew. His secret for studying is simple: he does not spend a lot of time in studying, but establishes goals for that period of time in which he does study. Matt is a prime example that it is never the quantity of time spent, but the quality.

Laura Harris proves that to be "scholarly", does not necessarily mean that one must be dull. Although Laura has excelled as an academian, she has not limited her activities in other areas.

Scholastically, Laura has proven herself to be equal to the task. She has served as a member of the French Honor Society as well as being elected to the National Honor Society.

Laura is active on the Blade staff and is a three year member of Junior Civitan. She has participated on the Peer Advisory League and has been a member of the Honor Council. Laura has also been influential as a main force in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

With her involvement in softball and cheerleading, it is a wonder that Laura is able to maintain her high standards. She does however, by realizing that every activity requires its own time and effort.

1. Steve McCune, Eddie Thomas, Ann Askew, Matt McGuire, and Kevin Hudson are just a portion of the Debate Team. 2. Martha Putman finds studying an easy task toward keeping her grades up. 3. Steve McCune led his class academically throughout the year. 4. Senior Laura Harris proves that academics can be fun. 5. Laura Harris is active in many student organizations. 6. In her quiet way, Martha Putman excells in many areas.

THE BUDDING ARTIST

Learning to express one's self creatively is an important aspect of the educational experience. At Woodward, students are introduced to the arts as soon as they enter school. Whether finger painting, water colors, crayons or cut and paste, the student is encouraged to create. Exposure to the artistic world gives the student the opportunity to choose for himself his areas of interest. Expression through artistic endeavors is important to the formation of a well-rounded education.

1. A Lower School student examines a model before beginning his sketch. 2. Ms. Harrison instructs a student on the techniques of design. 3. Rainbows are excellent subject matter for a beginning Picasso.

THE ART OF THE STAGE:
A Cast And Crew Working As One

The Performing Arts program at Woodward provides students with the opportunity to express themselves through the medium of the stage. The finished product is merely the tip of the iceberg. A two hour play is the culmination of months of rehearsals, hours of set and costume design and then preparation for the performance itself. Creating a believable character is the art of the actor. His job is to make fantasy become reality for the audience. His tool is himself. Through the arts of makeup, set design, costume design and acting any period in time or any location may be created right before the audience's eyes.

Although the performer himself is the most visible part of the production, he is by no means the only part. Each member of the crew, whether working with props, sets, costumes, makeup, direction or as part of the stage crew, is vitally important to the ultimate success of a production. The magic which is built between the performer and his audience is fragile and can be burst as easily as a bubble if the crew doesn't work as a unit.

The magic of theatre doesn't just happen. It is created through the artistry of the actors and crew. It is hard but rewarding work. The warmth of an audience's ovation and the electricity on stage are all the reward a performer ever needs.

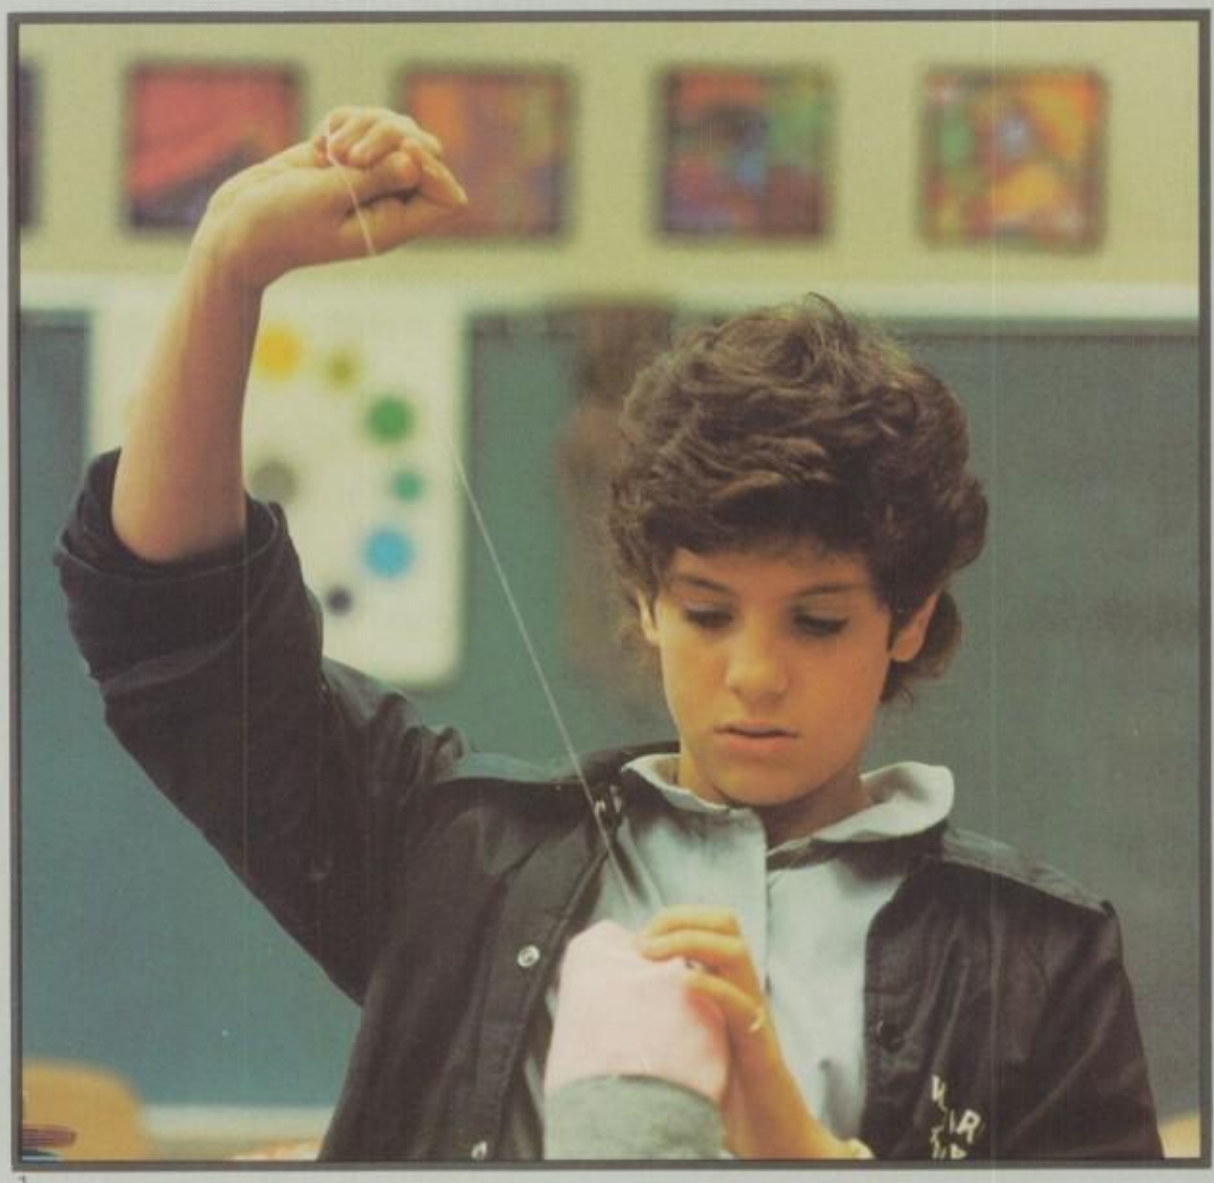
VISUAL ARTS:
Creativity Abounding



1

The Visual Arts Department is perhaps one of the most interesting and varied areas within the Academy. The course offerings include such areas as jewelry making, pottery, ceramics and weaving along with the standards of photography and drawing. Students taking advantage of any of these areas of study are given the opportunity to create lasting objects. The lobby of the Richardson Hall Fine Arts Center frequently displays the works of many of Woodward's talented students, while honoring their creative skills.

Courses are available to the artistically gifted student or that student who simply wishes an opportunity to express himself through art mediums. The outlet of weaving, jewelry making or any other area gives the student a chance to get away from the grueling day to day schedule of facts and figures and dig deep inside himself to express what is there. Whether a budding Renoir or Tiffany, or simply an enjoyer, the visual arts program offers something for every student.

THE ARTIST: Communicating Creatively

Lisa Shatterly, a Woodward junior, is very talented in several aspects of Fine Arts. As a singer, she is a member of the Festival Chorale and the Festival Singers. Lisa was the 1982 Miss Woodward, winning the pageant with her rendition of "Grandma's Song". As an actress, she has held several roles in Woodward productions, including a minor role in Pippin and one of the leads in Arsenic and Old Lace. Lisa has demonstrated her talent in many of the school's choral and dramatic productions and although she does not plan to sing professionally, she says that singing will always be an avocation for her.

Many students at Woodward participate in extra-curricular activities as an educational experience or just for the fun of it. Adlen Walker, a senior boarding student participates in a rather extraordinary way. Adlen has a very special interest in the field of acting.

In the tenth grade Adlen began her Woodward career in the musical Bye-Bye Birdie. As a junior, she appeared in both the One Act To the Chicago Abyss and the Three Act play Arsenic and Old Lace. As a senior Adlen has given a thoroughly enjoyable performance as the female lead in the One Act play Butterflies Are Free.

Adlen has been a member of the WATV crew for three years. She is a loyal thespian, being a member of the Woodward chapter of the International Society of Acting. She has served as secretary during the club's first year and as president the second.

Adlen has not yet decided whether or not to pursue acting as a career. She does want to stay in the field of communication in some fashion. With Adlen's talent she will always be successful before an audience.

Jay Johnson is an outstanding student artist. His talent, though often hidden behind his studies, is exceptional. His artwork can be seen on WATV morning announcements as well as in the introduction of the 1983 Phoenix.

Jay came to Woodward Academy in the eleventh grade and holds many awards and honors including membership in the National Honor Society and the National Art Honor Society. Jay received the Director's Award in Visual Arts, a University of Georgia Certificate of Merit.

Jay leaves his mark wherever he goes. He is a versatile artist and student, combining the best of all areas.

Tenth grader, Stacey Holt is a versatile and talented performer. Stacey's primary area of interest is dance, but it is by no means the only area in which he is proficient. He is a member of the Doris Russel Dancers, and has performed in numerouse productions of the Southside Theater Guild. During the summer of 1982, Stacey won a role in the Broadway musical "Oklahoma" which was performed in Helen, Georgia.

The rigorous training that Stacey undergoes for dancing has proven beneficial in other areas such as basketball, since he is a member of the Woodward Academy J.V. Basketball team. Stacey won first place in the 1982 Regal Eagle Talent Show with his choreography to "Shake It Up" by the Cars. He is a member of the Academy's choral group as well as the advanced dance class at Woodward.

There's No Place Like

The 1982 Homecoming festivities were kicked off with a Bon-Fire/Pep Rally held on the eve of the football game. Students and other War Eagle fans gathered on the parade field just after dark to enthusiastically express their support for the team.

For the first time in many years, the four Upper School classes held a lawn display competition, decorating the campus with their colorful floats. The Senior class won first place with their "Golden Graham" theme.

The Homecoming game itself was the climax of the day's events, highlighted by the crowning of the Homecoming queen at halftime. The court members dressed in antebellum hoop skirts, were escorted across the field by young men dressed in formal tails. Senior Regina Reeves was crowned as the 1982 Homecoming Queen, and Leslie Hubbard was named Maid of Honor. The days activities were topped off by the War Eagles 34-0 Victory over Mcintosh.

COMPETITION:

Competition is an important part of the high school experience, and especially so in the area of athletics. Although it may seem that the battles take place on a surface level, the competitive spirit goes much deeper. There is much preparation for the athlete long before the actual competition begins. Long hours of hard work lead to the same goal — finding what will make the athlete that much better than his opponent. The advantage may be a physical or emotional one, but it must be there for the athlete to be a winner. This advantage must be earned through rigorous training sessions, endless practices and pushing oneself to the limit of endurance, and then a little further.

Competition on the playing field is excellent training for the student. It gives him the opportunity to work with others, blending his talents with those of his teammates to create the best possible result. Once he reaches this result, he is able to share it with others. Whether it be the touchdown, base hit, basket or goal that won the game, the cheers he receives from friends and fans are enough. They let him know that he has gained respect for all the long hours of work he put into creating the end result.

In The Spirit Of Things!!

Woodward Academy has always had a tradition of enthusiastic spirit. The competitive edge of the athlete is always an integral part of sport, and it is enhanced by the fans. The joy of competition is contagious as it stretches beyond the playing arena into the crowd.

The fans provide that atmosphere which inspires and motivates the athlete. The yells, the cheers, the chants, and songs form the backbone of the Woodward spirit. Fans provide the very necessary support upon which all War Eagle teams are dependent. A chorus of clapping hands and encouraging voices have spurred many a War Eagle to give that extra effort, to push a little longer.

Woodward fans are united in the Academy's new Pep Club. Not restricted to only students, the Pep Club counts as its members parents and friends of Woodward War Eagle Teams. The fan has always supported the winner but never forgets that there is always an athlete that did not make the winning basket, missed a tying extra point or was one second off the pace. Woodward spirit does not lag at these discouraging moments. The fans display brave smiles through sad tears. There is an encouraging pat on the back, a hugged neck, and a heart-felt, "We'll get them next time."

Woodward spirit does not only come from the student body and parents, but every area of the Woodward Academy community. The spirit continues to live in GMA/WA alumni and faculty. Every time an alumnus returns a cheer he fills the gap in the Woodward spirit. The biggest Woodward fan is usually the 20 year graduate of GMA who bites his nails through each play. This is the fan who would not miss a game whether it be home or away.

The thrill and joy of athletic competition is empty without the support of the fans. Every War Eagle has felt the love and encouragement roll down from the stands to touch each athlete. The athlete responds and the circle is complete.

THE ATHLETE: A Trained Body And Mind

Senior Pete Fritts is considered to be one of the most outstanding athletes at Woodward. He has been involved in both wrestling and foorball and is a very determined, hard-working athlete. Throughout his high-school wrestling career, Pete has never lost a single match. For the past 3 years he has been named AAA State Champ and has been elected to the Who's Who Among High School Athletics. He is a member of the All American Wrestling Team. He is involved, not only with athletics, which take up a tremendous amount of his time, but he is also an Eagle Roll student and president of the Student Body.

Terri Naff is versatile in both softball and basketball, and has distinguished herself by her attitude and team spirit. Because of her leadership ability Terri was chosen captain of the 1982-83 softball team, filling many positions on the team.

When Terri completes the softball season she immediately begins basketball practice. As a talented forward, Terri has played basketball since second grade.

Because of her skill, Terri has won numerous awards including Most Valuable Defensive player in basketball. And, as a senior, Terri was honored as the Most Athletic girl of the senior class. Terri believes that the reason for her athletic ability is due to her love of challenge and the sense of teamwork that it provides.

Euodia Rambo is a talented athlete and has been a Varsity Cheerleader for the past two years. She has been able to include other sports in her schedule as well, such as softball, gymnastics and track. Euodia has been voted most valuable track team member for each year since the ninth grade. Her track accomplishments are numerous. At twelve, she was ranked fifth in the nation for the eighty meter hurdles. During ninth and tenth grade she was ranked second in Georgia, and placed seventh during her junior year. Euodia continues to amaze the Woodward community with her abilities and committment to giving all to the task before her.

Michael "Spider" Maxwell is an outstanding senior athlete. For each of his 5 years as a member of the gymnastics team, he has been awarded Most Valuable Player. Spider, the undefeated high school State champion for the last three years, has many other accomplishments as well. He has compered in various tournaments around the South, and has compered as far away as California, where in the USGF Boys Nationals he came in 20th in 1980. Locally, he took 1st place All-Around in both the Atlanta Peachbasket Invitational and the Atlanta School of Gymnastics Invitational. Spider was featured in the United States Gymnastics Federation calender in 1980, as one of America's future olympians. He was the 1982 Georgia All Star gymnast winning 1st place All-Round in the meet.

Besides Spider's interest in gymnastics, he enjoys flying, and received his private pilot's certificate in September 1982.

IT'S SPRING. REJOICE!

After a cold winter the campus begins to come alive again as spring emerges. Students and faculty members can begin to see the light at the end of the tunnel. Throughout the quarter an air of excitement pervades the campus and traditional spring events such as Super Goober Day, "Experience the Arts Day" and graduation add to the energetic spring schedule.

Super Goober Day spans the whole campus with something for everyone. Events include game booths, powderpuff football, tug of war, Bingo, Chick-Fil-A dinner and a raffle, which raised $36,000 for the school last year.

"Experience the Arts Day" is held by the Art Department allowing students to demonstrate their various talents in the field of art. Demonstrations include buttonmaking, face painting, fabric design, drawing, film making, painting, plastering and pottery.

As the school year grinds to a halt, the students go their separate ways, just to return to the routine again in the Fall.

HISTORY AND TRADITION: A Heritage To Be Proud Of

Founded in 1900 by Col. John Charles Woodward as Georgia Military Academy, Woodward Academy has a strong heritage and tradition of which it can be proud. The discipline of the military academy and the feeling of comraderie instilled in the GMA student can be seen as well in the Woodward Academy student of today. The change from an all-male, predominantly boarding, military school to a co-educational, primarily day, college prep school was not a simple one. Though the Academy's physical and academic structures have undergone vast changes since it's inception, there is one thing that has not changed — the Academy's dedication to excellence and the pursuit of knowledge.

THE SCHOOL: Dedicated Individuals

Charlotte Frances Austin, known to her co-workers and Woodward students as "Charlie", is one of the most dedicated workers in her department. She has been a cook in the Woodruff Dining Hall for thirteen years. As well as cooking, she helps serve the meals and plan the menus. Charlie loves her work and rarely misses a working day. She looks forward to seeing and talking with the students during the day. Very active in her church and many of the school activities, Charlie has a busy schedule. Her smiling face and friendly greeting are a welcome break from the routine of daily classes.

Most students are familiar with shy and retiring Dean Bell, but few realize that our own Dean Dave Bell was once one of those jaunty young men in their racing machines. Dean Bell first started in racing while serving in the army in 1954. He joined the German Auto Club while in Europe and raced different types of cars, including a Jaguar, various sports cars, dirt track MG's and the small sedan class, which he enjoyed the most. He has finished first in class events in Maryland, second in class in Germany and first in small sedan class at Candlestick Park in 1967. He also ran road rallies in Europe. He does not race anymore, but Dean Bell says that after all the daily excitement of Woodward, he just does not have the strength.

Upon entering the Upper School Counseling Office, each student receives a friendly greeting from the lady at the desk. In addition to working for the four counselors, Mrs. Wallace is also responsible for keeping up with transcripts, senior brag sheets, GPA's, and class rankings, compiling this information for college applications. Mrs. Wallace works throughout the year, and also serves as Teacher-In-Charge which she laughingly calls Secretary-In-Charge during her duty hours.

Mrs. Wallace has been at Woodward for nine years. She says she enjoys the contact with students more than any other aspect of her job. This is evident to anyone having the privilege of dealing with Mrs. Wallace.

Although most people at Woodward know her as the secretary in the Administrations Office, June Geiger has another unique identity. She often appears as "Honeybun", a clown with orange hair, oversized feet, wearing a blue suit with yellow polka dots and huge pockets.

Mrs. Geiger began appearing as "Honeybun" when her oldest daughter was in kindergarten. She made the costume and appeared as the clown at a school carnival. Honeybun went over so well that she has visited many more carnivals, birthday parties, church and bible school parties. One special pleasure is appearing at Woodward's Super Goober Day as "Honeybun". She especially enjoys appearing at places where people know her but do not recognize her.

One of Mrs. Geiger's secret ambitions has always been to attend clown school and during the fall of this year she finally got the chance. Although her children say that she has never grown up, June Geiger feels that being a clown is a good way to get rid of inhibitions and is probably the next best thing to running away with the circus.

1. Admissions secretary June Geiger spends much of her business day giving information to prospective students and their parents. 2. Dean Dave Bell keeps an eye out for troublemakers in the student lounge. 3. June Geiger always has a smile and cheerful word for anyone entering the Admissions Office. 4. Administrative Team

Dr. Gary M. Jones

As President of Woodward Academy, Dr. Gary M. Jones serves as the head of the three member administrative team, working closely with Mr. Don Woolf and Mr. Jim Chandler to effectively coordinate all areas within the Academy.

Dr. Jones strives to ensure the quality of the academy and the education that it offers. His major areas of responsibility include public relations, development, alumni relations and fund-raising.

Assuming the position as President in 1978, Dr. Jones can often be seen taking time out of his busy schedule to talk with students and parents, speak at convocations and visit classes.

Mr. Don A. Woolf

As Vice-President and Headmaster of Woodward Academy, Mr. Don A. Woolf strives to maintain academic excellence at the Academy. Beginning his career at Woodward in 1963, Mr. Woolf has made contributions to many of the various aspects of the Academy. He has served as assistant principal and principal of the Lower School, the founding principal of the Busey School, and as a dormitory parent.

Appointed Headmaster during the 1980-81 school year, Mr. Woolf is responsible for regulating the curriculum, academic instruction, personnel, and extra-curricular activities of each of the four schools. Certainly, each school benefits greatly from Mr. Woolf's leadership.

Mr. James R. Chandler

Mr. James R. Chandler is Vice-President of Finance for Woodward Academy. His involvement with the Academy has extended over a twenty year period, having been a mathematics instructor and business manager for the Academy. In addition to supervising all financial aspects of the Academy, Mr. Chandler is also responsible for the campus computer center and for serving as secretary of the Board of Governors. Mr. Chandler's expertise insures that the Academy is financially sound as well as academically.

The President and two Vice-Presidents oversee the running of the entire Academy, however each of them must delegate many of the responsibilities for the day to day events. The Business office handles all financial matters for students, faculty, parents and Academy suppliers. The Development office works with the Academy's 5,000 alumni, while also handling fund-raising through the Annual Giving Campaign and special events. The Admissions office is charged with the responsibility of selecting qualified students for entry into the Academy. It is through the hard work of this office, that the Academy is able to maintain such a highly qualified student body. The Facilities Department keeps the campus buildings and grounds in par condition, working round-the-clock to insure that the campus is always at its best.

Woodward Academy Staff

A school the size of Woodward requires many people to keep it running efficiently. The Upper School Administration oversees the overall running of the high school. The Counseling office provides information, standardized testing, college admissions, scheduling and deals with student problems. The student services area is concerned with the disciplining of the students, with the boarding program, and through the infirmary provides health care for both day and boarding students. The Upper School Library provides a quiet environment for students who wish to use their free time for studying. The library houses over 35,000 volumes and is excellent for research material and pleasure reading. The campus store serves as a mini-department store for student school supplies as well as the Academy uniform. All of these areas play an important role in the overall continuity of the Academy.

Lower School Faculty

In the Lower School, special care is taken by teachers to guarantee that each student's learning career begins on the right track. During the early years, a child's learning habits must be molded into the right form to insure that their later years in school will be successful. The Lower School faculty and staff, led by Principal Al Wendt and Assistant Principal Dave Chandler, are very well equipped to accomplish this goal.

Busey School Faculty

Under the leadership of Principal Bill Cobb and Assistant Principal Joann Berry, the faculty of the Woodward Academy Busey School strives to provide their students with an excellent basic foundation for learning. Because of well qualified teachers with degrees from various prestigious schools, and a low 1 to 12 teacher to student ration, the Busey school is prepared to give their students every possible opportunity.

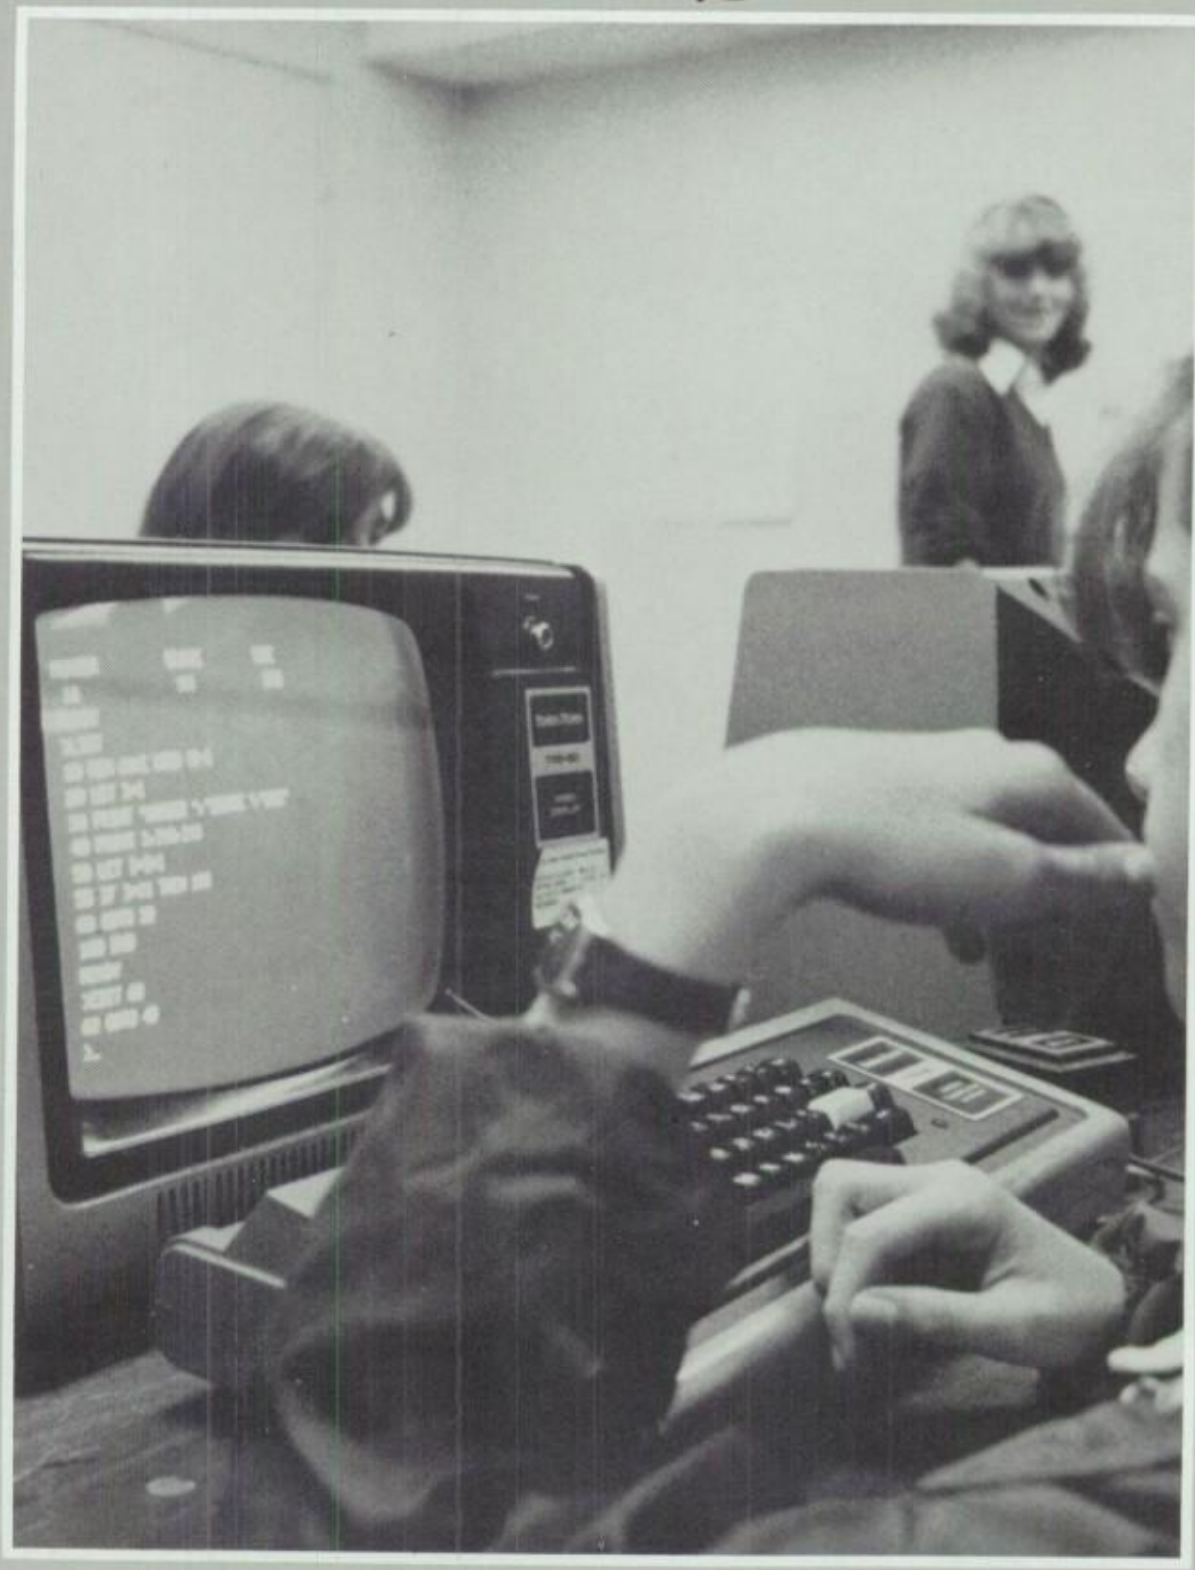
Computer Science



Too large to be contained within the Science Department, a new department, directed by Dr. Charles Hixon, was formed at Woodward Academy to house computer science. Computer Science was originally offered as an elective in the Upper School Science Department. However, with the increasing popularity of computers, Woodward formed a department which would give students a more intense look at the use and function of various computers. The lab contains approximately 36 computers and accessories of different brands and models. Although young, the department has had an encouraging beginning as the response from both students and parents has been favorable. At present, Computer Science is only an elective in the Upper School. Each student in the eighth grade is required to take the basic course in Computer Science.

Because various technological processes change and alter, the Computer Science Department is currently studying and devising additional courses to be added to the curriculum. This expansion insures that the Computer Science Department's overall goal that each student have a basic foundation and awareness of computer technology.

1. Dr. Chuck Hixon goes through step-by-step instructions for operating the computer. 2. The Apple II computer is one of the major brands in the new Computer Science laboratory. 3. Mr. Janke shows students how the computer can be used as an aid in studying biology. 4. Students find that learning to operate the computer is not as hard as it looks. 5. Middle School girls learn that the computer can have many functions. 6. Dr. Hixon instructs Middle School students in learning to operate more than one computer. 7. Jody Jordan finds that the computer stores a vast amount of knowledge that can be recalled by the punch of a key. 8. To use the computer, students must learn the way a computer "talks".

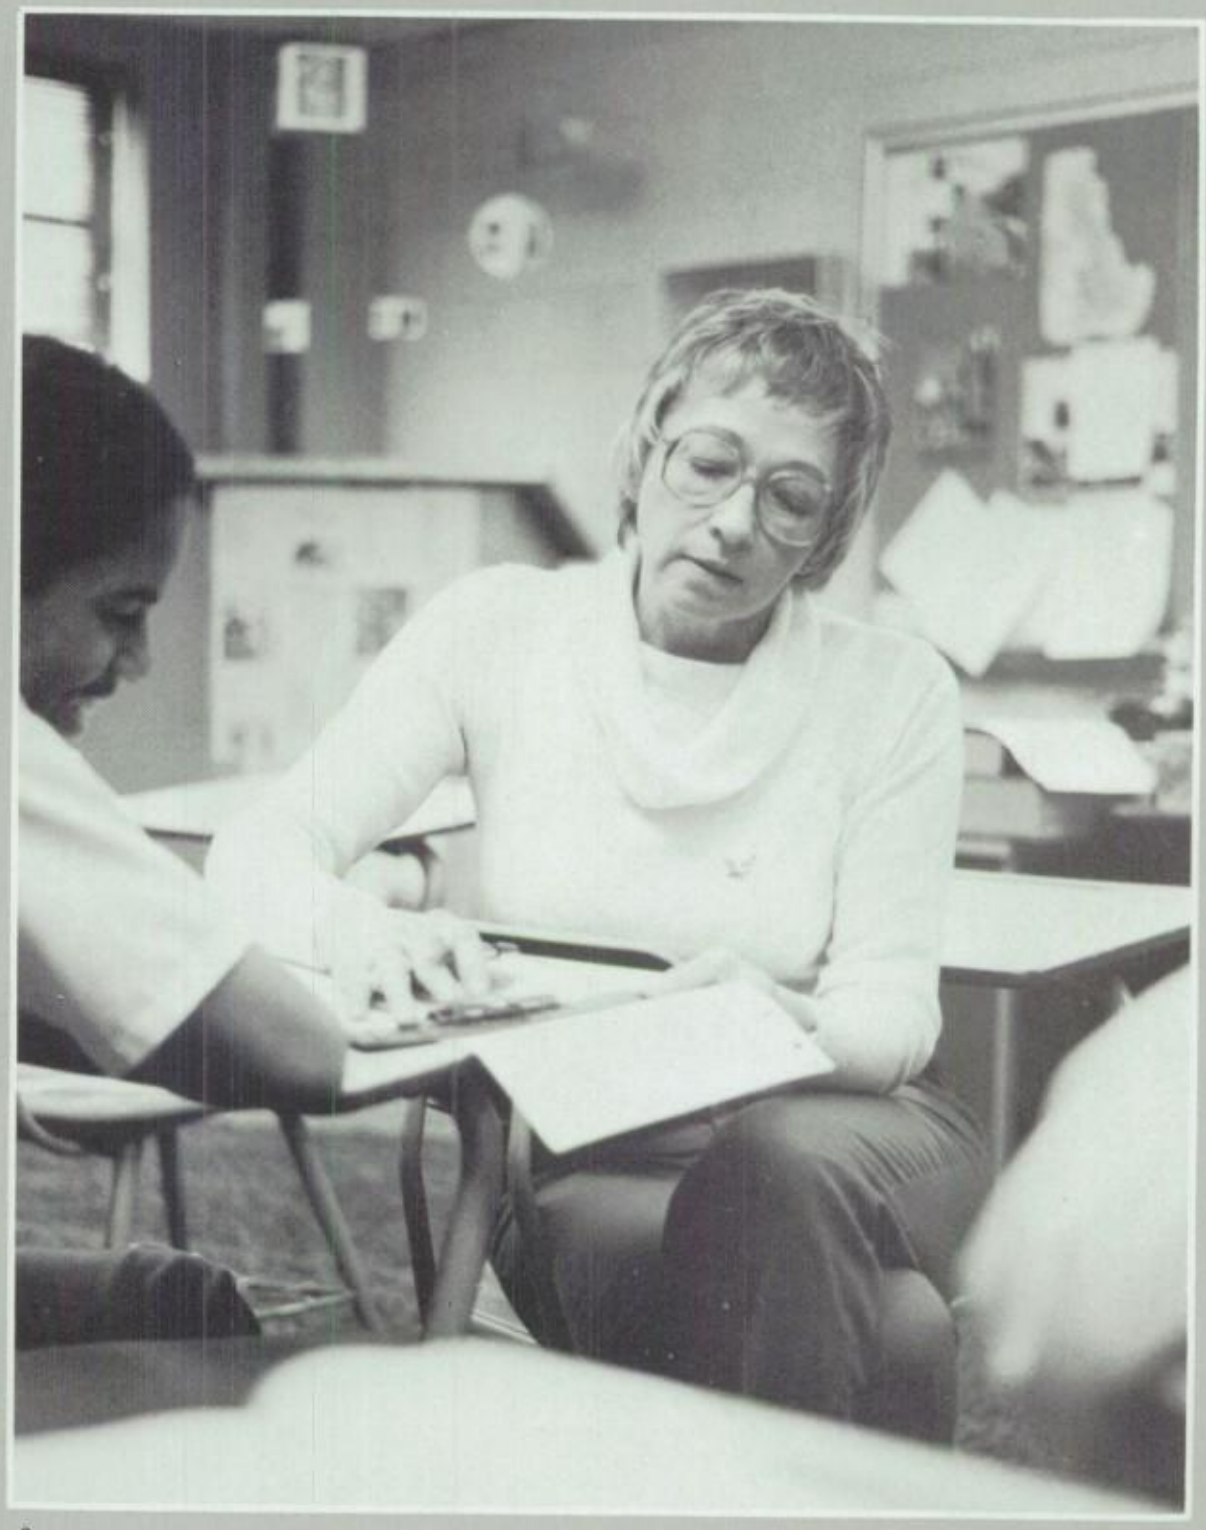
English



Lead by Mrs. Bobby Alford, the English Department strives to give the student a mastery of communication skills. These skills are developed through an in-depth study of language, literature and composition. As writing skills are necessary for success in college and in chosen career fields, extra emphasis is placed on composition. By offering a wide range of literature of the world, students can develop competency in reading comprehension and critical thought. Students are also encouraged to voice their own interpretations of the material that they are studying.

Instruction in formal English skills begins in the third grade and continues through the Middle School years where students refine basic skills in grammar usage, sentence construction and writing coherent paragraphs. In addition to the planned areas of study during the school year, the English department provides a diversified summer reading program for students. The list is arranged to interest every student and introduce them to the classics and modern fiction.

1. Valerie Wooten skims over the test questions before beginning her exam. 2. Senior Dale Blonder reflects after reading one of the great poems of literature. 3. By organizing his thoughts before writing his English composition, Carl McGhee finds that he can write a more comprehensive essay. 4. Derrick "Fig" Phillips is stunned by the grade he received on his English compo sition. 5. Pete Fritts, Barry Ridgeway, and Josh Thorp discuss a book they are reading in English. 6. Mrs. Bobby Alford, English Department Chairman, is devoted to guiding and instructing students in English grammar, literature and language. She has passed along her love of English. 7. Mrs. Carolyn Haldeman reviews sentence structure and grammar with college-bound Seniors. 8. To write a correct composition takes a great deal of serious effort. Mrs. Cleo Hudson reviews a students work to check to see if composition guidelines have been followed.

Fine Arts

Known not only for academic excellence, Woodward Academy offers a wide variety of classes and activities in the Fine Arts. The Fine Arts Department is divided into two sections: Visual Arts and Performing Arts. Both divisions give students experience in individual and group expression. The Visual Arts Department, directed by Lane Fristoe, offers various classes such as drawing, painting, fabric design, jewelry design, printmaking, ceramics, photography and television production. Aside from teaching the basics, each course is designed to give students a chance to be creative. The Performing Arts Department, directed by Alan McClung, allows students to use their skills and talents in the specific musical and dramatic field of interest. Students may participate and expand their talents in various choral, band, dance and theater groups. By examining the needs of each student, the Fine Arts Department provides a sound basis for anyone planning to study any form of art on the college level.

Foreign Language

The Foreign Language Department, chaired by Mrs. Jean Olstin, offers students in grades 8-12 the opportunity to learn to effectively write and speak a second language such as French, Spanish, German or Latin. In addition to developing these communication skills, foreign language teachers also place special emphasis on the appreciation of the culture of the particular country whose language the students are studying. Although only two years of a foreign language are required for graduation, many students continue to take upper level courses in French and Spanish. For outstanding students in French and Spanish, membership is available in special programs that expand the student's knowledge and usage of a foreign language.

1. Todd Dugdale concentrates on the material for a daily quiz. 2. Nancy Rothenberg sometimes finds French verbs difficult to understand. 3. French I students listen carefully as Mrs. Jean Olstin gives an explanation. 4. Steve Faulkner gives a question some deep thought before answering it. 5. As chairman of the Foreign Language department, Mrs. Jean Olstin teaches classes in several levels of French as well as overseeing the department.

Mathematics

The Woodward Academy Mathematics Department, directed by Mary Walker, strives to develop the students mathematical computation ability. Students are required to take a year each of Pre-Algebra, Algebra I, Algebra II and Geometry. When students complete the required courses, they are encouraged to take courses offered in additional study of mathematics such as Advanced Algebra, Probability, Statistics, Pre-Calculus and Calculus. Through the various courses offered, the department builds upon each level, giving the student an increasing ability to apply logic in order to solve mathematical problems. In order to succeed in college as well as one's chosen career field, the knowledge of mathematical computation is imperative. The goal of the department is to give every student a chance to succeed by providing a sound mathematical basis.

1. Mrs. Becky Rogers serves as the varsity cheerleading sponsor along with her teaching responsibilities. 2. Mr. Steven Reed has been a part of the Academy's teaching staff since 1974. 3. Pam Coleson uses her calculator in completing a difficult problem. 4. Mr. Paul Myers listens to students questions, trying to help them understand the complexity of statistics. 5. Mrs. Mary Walker, the mathmatics department head, explains material to a puzzled student. 6. Mr. George Dietz explains a class assignment for a middle school Pre-Algebra students.

The Woodward Academy Individualized Study Program, directed by Ron Walker, is designed to help students with learning disabilities. Mr. Walker coordinates the programs in the Lower, Middle and Upper Schools. In the Lower School classes are very small in order to allow for more individual help. The teachers place a special emphasis on phonetics, reading and mathematical skills. Middle School classes are also small and students work on perfecting their skills of organization and notetaking. Once the students have reached the Upper School, both teachers and students focus on totally remediating the student's learning disabilities therefore enabling students to attend regular classes by their junior year. Under the direction of Mr. Walker, this program has proven to be very successful.

Woodward Academy's Physical Education Department, directed by Coach Johnny O. Stallings, offers many activities while providing a sound background in the field of athletics. Physical activities are planned for all four schools that will benefit each student in his physical development of coordination and strength. The coaches plan games in which team effort and group participation are required such as soccer, basketball, volleyball and softball. At the same time they plan activities which will allow the student to develop his or her skills in individual sports such as tennis, track and gymnastics. One day a week is set aside for calisthenics. This year a new course in physical education was offered where students could increase their physical fitness through monitored weight training. The Physical Education department is an intregal part of the curriculum as it strives to develop students physically as well as mentally.

1. Ms. Sentell, instructor of both History and English takes a moment to prepare for her next class. 2. Mr. Ron Walker, Director of ISP, puts in long hours of tedious work to maintain the high standards of the ISP Program. 3. Taking a moment to pause and share a joke provides a well balanced learning atmosphere in Mrs. Goodrum's class. 4. Mr. Janke utilizes the Apple II computer to store and organize lesson plans and tests. 5. Filling the role of Athletic Director requires long hours of work on the part of Coach Petty Ezell. 6. To Coach Don Cardell a twelve year veteran of Woodward, teaching physical education classes comes naturally.

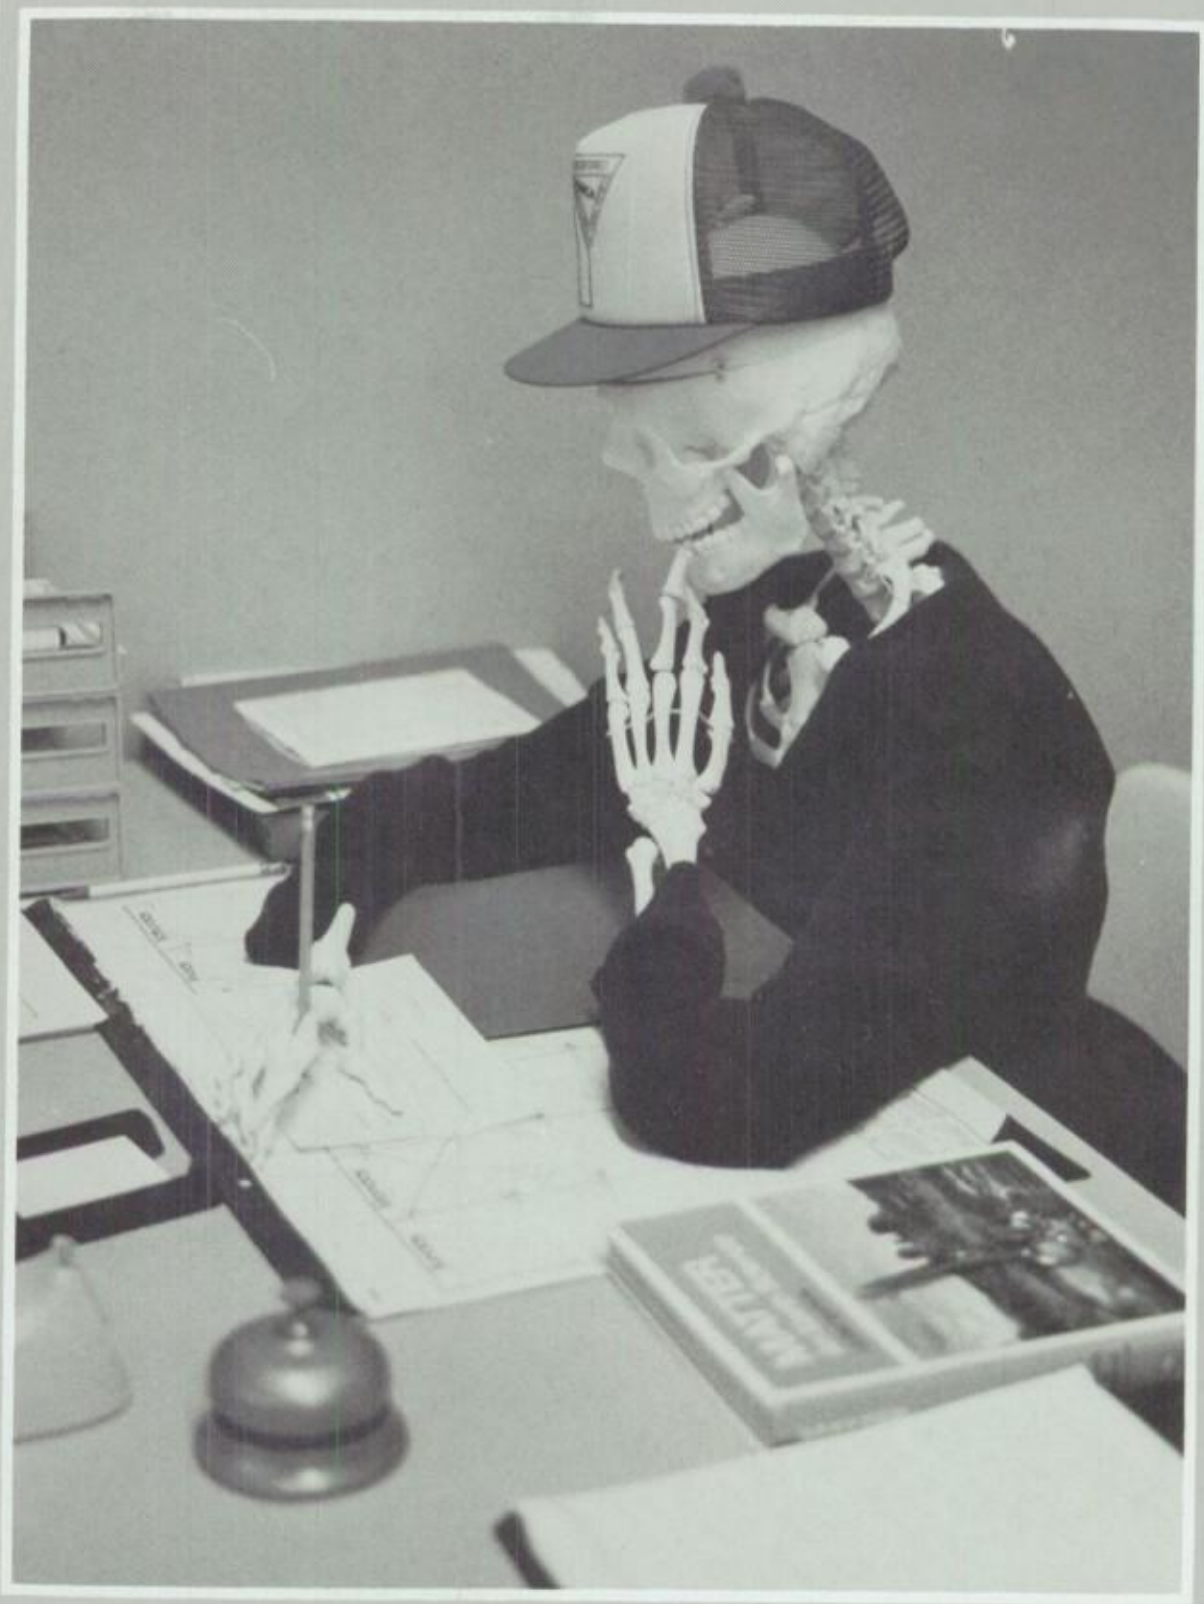
Science



8

Directed by Gus Dearolph, the Science Department at Woodward Academy encourages students to develop their investigative skills and abilities to use rational thought through experimentation. Students begin the study of science in kindergarten with the exploration in the realm of the five senses. Beginning in the Middle School, students are introduced to concepts and theories through actual experiments in the laboratory. In the Upper School students are required to take a year of biology and chemistry along with another year of physics, anatomy and physiology, nutrition, earth and space science or oceanography. With such a wide range of courses, the science department is able to supply the student with a better understanding of the world around him and the role of science in society. As students attain the goals established by the department, they form a firm scientific background to prepare for further study of college science.

*1. Mr. Howard Janke teaches all levels of Biology including ISP and AP. 2. Experiments play an important role in science courses as evidenced by Marcella Robinson. 3. Affectionately known as "Mr. Physics", Mr. Gus Dearolph serves as the Science Department Chairman as well as teaching physics. 4. Mr. George McKelvy, a chemistry teacher, is a common sight around the campus in his white lab coat. 5. Mrs. Elaine Carroll, a Woodward Academy graduate, returned to the Academy to serve as a Biology instructor. 6. Julie Oliver and Tracy Wilson listen as Mrs. Carroll explains Darwin's theory. 7. Miss Martha Muir joined the Academy faculty during the 1982-83 year teaching chemistry. 8. Social Studies

The Woodward Academy Social Studies Department, chaired by Mr. Bill Lineberry, gives students a chance to study historical events of the past and discuss history presently being made. The goal of the department is to give students an appreciation of history and its impact on society and civilization. The faculty strives to develop the student's ability to organize their thoughts and coherently answer essay questions pertaining to the material studied.

The teaching of Social Studies begins in the Lower and Middle Schools. Young students are introduced to the basic social concepts, geography, and are taught a sketch outline of American History. In the Upper School students discuss various political systems, Modern European History, and American History. They may also choose from a wide selection of elective courses such as Business Law, Economics, Psychology, and Accounting. Two years of Social Studies are required for graduation.

1. Ms. Phyllis Cannatella finds that answering the questions of her students increases their knowledge. 2. Seniors Steve Hoffman and Destry Holmes realize the importance of all material presented in lectures. 3. Senior Belton Plowden enjoys one of Mr. Monti's jokes before class begins. 4. To be prepared, Freshman Preston Bazemore and Troy Patterson take notes from Ms. Cannatella's lecture. 5. History lectures hold the rapt attention of Seniors Mark Doherty and Paul Rosser. 6. The only way to learn is to ask questions as shown by Freshman Amy Newburger. 7. Always different, Mr. Walter Monti makes his lectures interesting and informative. 8. Department Chairman, Mr. Bill Lineberry emphasizes the importance of the ability of the student to use every facet of his intelligence.

Recognizing Students For Academic Excellence

National Honor Society

One of the highest honors at Woodward Academy is to gain membership into the National Honor Society. Students are selected for membership on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Each student must maintain a minimum grade point average of 3.5. The 1982-83 formal induction was held in Gresham Chapel before all students and faculty of the Upper School. Mr. Roger Sloan, Academic Dean, serves as advisor. The officers for the 1982-83 Society are President Jody Rohrl, Vice-President Jay Johnson and Secretary/Treasurer Julie Anne Probert.

French Honor Society

The National French Honor Society is a group of third, fourth and fifth year French students who are chosen for their continuing academic excellence and interest in the French language. The officers of 1982-83, elected at the initiation ceremony for the new members, are Laura Harris, president and Ann Askew, Secretary/Treasurer. Their activities for the year included dinner at a French restaurant, seeing a French movie, sponsoring a guest speaker and an end of the year picnic to which the members brought various kinds of French food.

Spanish Honor Society

The National Spanish Honor Society is an organization formed to recognize the outstanding language students and to encourage their further interest in the Spanish language and culture. The Fall Quarter initiation was a candlelight ceremony held in the chapel. The group's trip to see "Don Quixote de la Mancha" is only one of the group's activities designed to bring the students together in order for them to use the language. The Society also had a Christmas party, a "paella" dinner at Woodward Academy and a trip to a Spanish restaurant.

Officers for the Society include President Darrin Finley, Vice-President Al Slamecka, Secretary-Treasurer Tami Lewis and Chaplain Brad Roda. The Faculty advisor is Mrs. Elaine O'Neill.

Honor Societies

Service Clubs Help Others F.C.A., Interact, Junior Civitan

Fellowship Of Christian Athletes

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes meets twice monthly with guest speakers and huddle group discussions. The group also takes two trips during the year; the Fall trip always to Helen, Georgia. The 1982-83 FCA collected funds for the memorial plot for Laura Ann Timmons, Class of 1981. The club was also honored at the National Conference meeting in Indianapolis for the largest club membership. The sponsor for the FCA is Athletic Director, Petty F. Ezell. The officers are president Billy Linz, vice-president Chip Ezell, secretary Dodd Davis and treasurer Laura Harris.

Interact

The Interact Club, an active service organization, is composed of members who volunteer their time to help others in the community. The Interact Club sponsored two successful Red Cross Blood Drives at Woodward Academy. The club held an inter-school "Cash-for-Trash" project, participated in the Phon-a-thon, as well as donated money to the American Cancer Society. The Interact Club's 1982-83 officers are president Emily Kane, vice-president Alonso Duralde, secretary Matt McGuire and treasurer Mandy McGowen. The faculty sponsor is Mrs. JoAnn Baker.

Junior Civitan

The Junior Civitan Club, with a membership of nearly 100, once again sponsored the Yellow Ribbon Day in the fall to collect funds for retarded citizens. They also sponsored "Spring For The Retarded", which was a week of fund-raising activities for retarded citizens. Junior Civitan members attended district conventions in both the spring and fall, visiting Panama City in the spring. Officers for 1982-83 were Dianna Sutherland, president, Laura Harris, vice-president, Clark Spratlin, treasurer, Debbie Mitchell, secretary, Kim Andrews, sergeant-at-arms, and April Craig, chaplain. Mr. Paul Myers served as advisor.

Promoting The Academy's Standards Of Excellence

Honor Council

The Honor Council advised by Missy Sanchez, serves as an intermediary discipline committee designed to give student offenders a second chance before appearing before the Discipline Board. Cases brought before the Honor Council deal with lying, cheating ans stealing and the Council is expected to maintain Woodard's high standards of conduct and behavior. Cases brought before the Council are not entered on the student's record, and Council members may not divulge any information concerning these cases. Officers of the Honor Council are President Jody Rohrl and Secretary Emily Kane.

Cadets

The Cadets serve as the official hosts and hostesses of the Academy. Selected on the basis of well-rounded interests and activities, these students are chosen through a careful screening process. The Cadets receive extensive training in the history and tradition of Georgia Military Academy/Woodward Academy. These students give tours to campus visitors, assist with visiting alumni as well as providing orientation for new students. The group is also compiling interesting facts about the Academy's history for future publication. Officers for the Cadets are Colonel Leslie Hubbard and Lt. Colonel David Hall. The Cadets are advised by Mrs. Missy Sanchez.

Competition As Supplement To Classroom Education

Debate Team

The Debate Team, coached by Mrs. Cleo Hudson and Mr. Ron Walker, had an excellent season in its second year of competition. The teams, led by Brett Mizelle on the novice level and Carl Erickson, Matt McGuire, Eddie Thomas and Kevin Hudson on the Varsity team, advanced to the semi-finals and on to the finals in several tournaments. The debate topic for the 1982-83 season concerned the curtailment of U.S. arm sales to foreign countries. The team also hosted the Second Annual Woodward Academy Debate Tournament with nearly 350 debators from around the state participating. Kevin Hudson and Eddie Thomas served as co-presidents with Ann Askew as Secretary.

Math Team

The Varsity and Junior Varsity Math Teams demonstrated much enthusiasm and hard work during the 1982-83 year. The team met weekly for practice testing sessions which included a multiple choice written test and oral quizzing. Advisors Paul Myers and Nancy Bunker worked with the students to increase their mathematical skills. The team hosted the State Mathematics Tournament with fifty-two schools and over 750 students taking part.

The Voice Of The Student Body

Student Government

Elected by the Upper School student body, the Student Government Association is the student's link to the Woodward Academy administration. The SGA voices the student's concerns and opinions by submitting bills to the administration. Successful legislation this year is the policy change to permit the wearing of earned letter jackets as acceptable school uniform. Another bill under consideration is a scheduled test days program. The SGA gave a new and exciting look to the 1982 Homecoming activities by reviving the tradition of class lawn displays and the spirit award. Members directed the school magazine drives, held the Christmas dance with proceeds to the Junior Class, and will coordinate Senior Week activities during Spring Quarter. The SGA officers are elected Spring Quarter and serve until the end of the following Winter Quarter.

Students Are Taught Journalistic Skills

The Blade

The Woodward Academy BLADE provides an opportunity for students to use their journalistic skills in producing newspapers throughout the school year. The BLADE offers commentary and information on life at the Academy, while serving as a learning experience. With a twenty-two member staff, editor Emily Kane and advisor Pat Nunally worked hard to produce six papers as a record of the school year.

WATV

The Woodward Academy WATV crew spent many hours preparing the daily morning "NEWSOURCE". The crew worked on a strictly volunteer basis, arriving early each morning, giving up many lunches, free periods and after school time. Each member of the crew was given the opportunity to work in every area of production, both on camera and off. In addition to providing the morning announcements, covering Atlanta events as well as those taking place on campus, the WATV crew video taped the Academy's plays and other events. WATV coordinator, Ms. Suzanne Greer spent many hours working with the crew, helping them to learn the technical and creative aspects of video production.

Producing An Accurate Record Of The School Year

Phoenix

The 1983 PHOENIX proved to be a tough challenge for its staff. With the addition of captions to the book, and the determination to produce the best PHOENIX ever, the staff found that many hours of hard work were vital to complete their project. Despite the necessary hard work, the staff pulled together, enjoying the challenge. Editor Sherry Miller, Asst. Editor Debbie Newman, and Co-Advisors Sandra Pounds and Susan Sentell became regular weekend inhabitants of the yearbook room. Regardless of the difficulties, the end product proved to be worth the effort. Trips to the downtown bus station in the middle of the night were just a few of the exciting moments charactizing the staff's year. Others include: Nasal Cavity . . . Is your grammar atrocious? . . . Stressing Responsibility And Individuality

Busey Groups

Groups and organizations within the Busey School provide students with an opportunity to take on responsibilities for specific tasks outside the academic realm. Students in the 4-H Club are given the chance to work on individual projects in the areas which are of interest to them. The Flag Crew takes responsibility for seeing that the flag is properly raised and lowered each day, while the Greeting Committee meets students at their cars each morning to help them with their books or other parcels. The Busey Bugle is a newsletter which keeps Busey students and their families up-to-date on current events within the school community.

Butterflies Are Free, You Can't Take It With You

One-Act And Three Act Plays

Each year the Woodward Academy Thespians perform both a one-act and a three-act play. The 1982-83 season consisted of "Butterflies Are Free" as the one-act and "You Can't Take It With You" as the three act play.

"Butterflies Are Free", originally a two-act play, was condensed into one act and entered in region competition. Adlen Walker portrayed the flighty, Jill Tanner, a teenage girl who falls in love with a blind musician. David Hall gave an outstanding performance as the blind Don Baker who is torn between his mother's wishes and his own. The mother was portrayed by Stephanie Batchelder, and Ralph Austin, Don's neighbor, was played by David Watson. In region competiiton, the play took third place with Adlen Walker taking best actress.

"You Can't take It With You", though postponed due to the January snow storm, was a superb production dealing with the depression of the 1930's. The play deals with two young lovers, Adlen Walker as Alice, and Paul Grady and Tom, whose families are at opposite ends of the spectrum. Tom's family is very wealthy and cultured, and finds it difficult to deal with Alice's bizarre and often crazy family. The cast included: Stephanie Batchelder, Ron Bertram, Richard Bregman, Alonso Duralde, Harrison Long, Christine Maugans, Walt McCollum, Holly McLendon, Debbie Mitchell, Bob Padgett, Scott Ridingin, Gordon Scott, Scott Searcy, Virginia Shapard, Lisa Shatterly, David Smith and David Watson.

Spring Musical is Fiddler On The Roof

Fiddler On The Roof

The Fine Arts Department presented Fiddler On The Roof as their 1983 spring musical. Fiddler On The Roof deals with the lives of a Jewish family in turn of the century Russia, and features such numbers as "Matchmaker, Matchmaker" and "Sunrise, Sunset". Directed by Mr. Alan McClung, a large number of students auditioned for roles with over 32 being cast in the musical. The lead role of Tevye was played by Dr. Gary Jones. The fiddler was played by Donna Woolf with Virginia Shapard protraying Tevye's wife. The three daughters were played by Alaina Edwards, Tina Garvin and Leanne Koon.

Watson And Long Take First With "Never Say No"

The Regal Eagle male talent contest is annually sponsored by the Chorale as a fund-raising project to help finance their spring concert tour. This year's entertainment included a wide variety of talents ranging from hard rock to Broadway.

Harrison Long and David Watson took first place with their musical skit entitled "Never Say No." The second place award went to chorale member Jeff Higgins for his own rendition of Barry Manilow's hit "Even Now." The band Rapid Fire, made up of Brad Hayward, Dave Williams, Steve Faulkner, and Dave Randolph stole the enthusiasm of the audience. An original song featured Dave Randolph in a drum solo which received a standing ovation and the third place award.

Creative Expression Through Movement And Voice

Thespians

The Thespians finished third in the Region One-Act play competition this year with "Butterflies Are Free". Adlen Walker was voted "Best Actress" in the region. The Three-Act play was "You Can't take it With You". Thespian membership more than doubled this year, and more than 90 people tried out for roles in the two plays. The Thespians sponsored the "Miss Woodward" pageant, with all proceeds going to charity. The Thespians officers were President, Adlen Walker, Vice-President, David Hall, Secretary, Lisa Shatterly, Treasurer, Virginia Shapard, Clerk, Jeff Higgins. In the future, the Thespians hope to become one of the largest, most active theatre groups in the state with an ultimate goal of quality theatre to match the quality of Woodward Academy's tradition.

The Art Of Movement . . . Dance

Dance Ensemble

The Woodward Academy Dance Ensemble was established as a performing outlet for the dance division of the Fine Arts Department. The dancers are auditioned twice a year, enabling all students the opportunity to perform. The company consists of 10 to 12 dancers, performing works ranging in style from classical to contemporary. Under the supervision of professional dancer, Patricia Miller-Shaw, this year's company performed Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" accompanying the Woodward Chorale at the 1982 Christmas Concert, appeared as guests of the Regal Eagle contest, performing "A Little More Time", and held their first solo evening concert on February 26th, showcasing the talents of the company's members.

Competent Musicians . . . The Robert W. Woodruff Band

Robert W. Woodruff Band

The Robert W. Woodruff Band under the leadership of Director Wayne Whitman and Drum Major Steve McCune, entertained football spectators, helped to keep spirit up at pep rallies, and presented two concerts during the school year. The band spent hours perfecting marching drills and their musical abilities. With the help of Mrs. Nan Padgett and a small but dedicated core of talented musicians, the band participated in the State Festival competition.

Quality Addition To Football Half Time

The Woodward Academy drill team and flag corps provided entertainment during half-time at the War Eagle football games. They made changes this year in their uniforms and flags in order to match the band uniforms and add to their spectacular performances. The team attended summer camp and received a rating of superior in every competition, placed first place overall and came back with a trophy and spirit ribbons. Five individuals were acknowledged for their performance, ability and daily work. They were: Misty Rivers, Rita Sinkfield, Michelle Jordan, Wanda Sharp and Jean Paris. The three contributing factors to the success of the team were enthusiasm, discipline and attitude. The officers this year were: Misty Rivers, Captain, Michelle Jordan, Co-Captain, Wanda Sharp and Stephanie Kwech, Lieutenants. The team's sponsor was Mrs. Chery Gibson.

Along with the drill team and band, the majorettes also added life to the War Eagle half time shows. Made up of Freshman Heidi Borg, Junior Traci Bell, and Sophomores Wendy McClendon and Karen Lanza, this year's young squad perfected every routine and performed them with polished skill and grace.

Artists In Training . . . Middle/Busey Arts

The Middle School and Busey School Fine Arts Departments strive to give students a basic foundation in the fine arts. The Middle School Band, under the direction of Mr. Lauren Hunt, gives students an opportunity to perform both individually and as a group. The Middle School also has a choral group in which students can begin to successfully develop their vocal skills. The chorus, directed by Mr. Alan McClung, competed very successfully in the area festival and participated in several campus concerts. The Busey School also provides students with performing opportunities through the Suzuki Strings, Dance and chorus.

ATHLETE

Football:

Woodward 7, Westminster 12

Until late in the game, the Woodward War Eagles seemed to be holding Westminster from two straight victories. However, Wildcat player Schenler Hensley forced a War Eagle fumble which set up Westminster's third score of the evening. With time running out, Woodward was unable to score again making the final score 12-7 in favor of the Wildcats.

Woodward 9, Marist 0

In the yearly rivalry between Woodward and Marist, Woodward emerged victorious over the visiting Marist War Eagles. Woodward's first score came in the first quarter when Will Jones recovered a fumble and Van Panter soon ran it in. The Woodward defense, led by Will Jones, Mark Doherty, and Bobby Copeland, caused four Marist fumbles and stopped Marist drives. Mike Huntington increased the final score to 9-0 with a 31 yard field goal in the third quarter.

War Eagles Capture 4-AAA Championship Title

Woodward, 7 Fulton, 10

In the third game of the season, the War Eagles fell 10-7 to the more experienced Fulton Cardinals. Woodward's only touchdown came from a 30-yard fumble recovery return by Chris Turner in the fourth quarter. The defense, led by Derrick Phillips, Will Jones, and Jeff Miller, held Fulton to only one touchdown and a 26-yard field goal.

Woodward 7, George, 18

Although Woodward was leading George 7-6 in the third quarter, the injury-plagued War Eagles were unable to prevent the Falcons from scoring again; once in each of the two remaining quarters. Ronnie Duncan scored Woodward's only touchdown on a 36-yard run.

Woodward, 7 Lovett, 0

In their final non-region game, the War Eagles stopped an undefeated Lovett team. Although it was not a high-scoring game, it was exciting for Woodward fans as the defense made the goal-line stand that kept the Lions from scoring in the final minutes of the game. Key players in this goal-line stand were Jimmy Witherspoon and Tony Brown, while Eric Thomas, Derrick Phillips and Bobby Copeland all played an outstanding defensive game.

Woodward 21, Harris Co., 0

Recording a victory in their first sub-region game, the War Eagles shut out Harris County 21-0. Jimmy Witherspoon gained 128 yards in this contest, and outstanding on defense were Derrick Phillips and Bobby Copeland, who each made five tackles.

FOOTBALL:

Woodward 7, M.D. Collins 0

After the overwhelming victory the week before, the War Eagles came onto the field in high spirits to face the Collins Cougars. Both teams fought well throughout the game and continuously held each other to a draw. With 4:25 left in the game, Will Jones deflected a Collins pass allowing defensive end Derrick Phillips to capture the ball and carry it to the Collins 34 yard line. The War Eagle defense continued to play exceptionally well, holding the Cougar offense throughout the quarter and down to the last 40 seconds of the game when they intercepted a Cougar pass on the Woodward 30 yard line ending any hope for a Collins score. The victory gave the War Eagles the first playoff spot in the 4-AAA West Championship.

Woodward 38, McIntosh 0

The Homecoming game began with the War Eagles scoring 21 points in the first nine minutes of play. Woodward totaled 400 yards rushing and passing while holding McIntosh to a mere total of 46 yards rushing and passing. Six War Eagles contributed to a final score of 38-0.

Woodward 28, Troup 0

Woodward's sixth shutout came against Troup County with Van Panter and Jimmy Witherspoon each scoring touchdowns. Jesse Spears also added to the score with his two touchdowns. With War Eagle defense playing an outstanding game, Woodward defeated Troup 28-0.

Woodward 34, Woodland 0

The War Eagles won the 4-AAA West Championship with a 34-0 shutout of Woodland. On their first possession of the game, Woodward scored adding another touchdown for a halftime score of 14-0. The second half was a repeat of the first with the War Eagles scoring again on their first possession and twice in the fourth quarter. Although Woodland recovered a War Eagle fumble on the Woodward 22 yard line, the defense was able to prevent a Woodland score, adding another game to their list of shutouts.

Woodward 15, Walker 0

In their first playoff game, the War Eagles faced Walker with a total of six consecutive shutouts. The War Eagle's two scores came when they recovered two fumbles, which enabled them to set up a field goal and a touchdown, making the final score 15-0, adding yet another game to Woodward's shutout record.

Woodward 24, Lithonia 7

After shutting out Walker, the War Eagles faced the Lithonia Bulldogs. They continued to play exceptionally well, holding Lithonia to 6 yards total offense in the first quarter. Ronnie Duncan played an excellent game with a fantastic 49 yard run in the first quarter, which led to a 36 yard field goal by Mike Huntington. Duncan also contributed with his sack of the Bulldog quarterback to prevent a possible field goal. Like the first half, the second half proved to be equally exciting as Woodward recovered four fumbles and intercepted two Bulldog passes. The final score was 24-7. Star players were Cy Johnson, Bobby Copeland, Josh Thorp, Chip Ezell and John McMillian.

Woodward 14, Glenn Hills 24

All hope for a spot in the state playoffs was lost when the Glenn Hills Spartans defeated the War Eagles by a score of 24-14 in the North Georgia AAA semi-finals. Woodward put the first score of the game on the board during the second quarter when Van Panter scored on an 18 yard run. However, before scoring again the War Eagles surrendered 24 points to the Spartans. Late in the game, Jesse Spears caught a pass to make a touchdown. With little time left, Jimmy Witherspoon recovered a War Eagle onside kick at the Spartan's 26 yard line, just to have a Jones pass intercepted. The effort put forth by the War Eagles was not enough to defeat the Spartans, knocking Woodward out of the playoffs.

Cheerleaders

The 1982 Varsity Cheerleading squad was composed of a group of hard-working, enthusiastic girls. Months before football season started, these industrious young women began learning various cheers and routines. Besides spreading spirit, these girls also had the task of painting run-throughs and various signs that decorated the halls during football season. This year, Jaymie Kitchens and Regina Reeves were captain and co-captain, respectively, and the team was sponsered by Mrs. Becky Rogers.

J.V. Football

The Junior Varsity football team upheld the traditional excellence of Woodward with a final record of four wins, one loss and one tie. Using the talents of the players to their fullest, they pulled together to make a great team. The team was led by offensive coach Scott Crook and defensive coach Don Cardell. The accomplishments of the Junior Varsity team will definitely aid the 1983 Varsity War Eagles. Talented players which stood out were defensive players Cliff Daniels and Chris Smith along with Phenizee McElroy, Jon Temple, and Charlie Wyatt, and Eric Ellis with the most interceptions.

9th Grade Football:

The Ninth Grade football team, under coaches Pete Fritts and Ralph Crist, completed a very successful season with 5 wins and 2 losses. The victories were over M.D. Collins, Heritage, McIntosh and twice over Troup County. The two losses were extremely close in scores with only five points between each. Outstanding offensive players were Randy Geohagen, Billy Cohen, Mark Russo, Brian Witkofsky, David Turpin, Mike Wells, David Powell, Michael Dickson, Powell Laster and David Cook. The defense was bolstered by Tom Bailey, Hector Dourron, Raymond Hicks, Scott Ellington, Gene Sutherland, Mike Stock, Jay Ward, Craig Justus, William Woodall and Jim Cowart.

CROSS COUNTRY:

The 1982 Cross Country team brought their season to a close, finishing 3rd in the region meet held in Marietta. They defeated Lithonia, Woodland, Walker and Rockdale County. The team, coached by Errol Sanders had a successful season. Inexperience dominated the runners, with only two seniors, Captain Chad Laub and Henry Kim returning. David Hubbard, a junior, helped the team by placing 4th in the region meet and went on to take 12th place in the state meet. Leah Gasrer, also a junior, was the only lady runner and has improved greatly, which will aid the team next year. The team depended more on its freshmen this year than it has in the past. Mark Thompson, Sean Milliken and Ken Harris ran with the team and gained much needed experience. Coach Sanders predicts that with all experienced runners returning next year, the 1983 season should be even better.

VOLLEYBALL

The Girls Varsity and Jr. Varsity volleyball teams played an exciting eight match season this year with Atlanta area schools. The mid-season tournament at Westminster proved challenging; however, Woodward lost out in the semi-finals. The team's winning attitude and determined hard work brought the season to a close with the final records of Varsity; 3 wins, 5 loses and Jr. Varsity; 5 wins, 3 loses. Kelly Dowdy lead the Varsity team and was named to the All-Star Tournament team. The teams, including the B-team, are looking forward to next season with great anticipation because of the many returning players. Next year, the teams motto will be, "Nothing can stop us now!"

The 1982 Girls Softball team, under coaches Elaine Carroll and Susan Sentell, finished with a record of 8 wins and 6 loses. The team started off the season winning four games in a row, including a big victory over McIntosh by a score of 28 to 11. The girls were lead by five seniors, Captain Teri Naff, Laura Harris, Ashley Hall, Diana Sutherland, and Paige Heard, who have played together for four years. They were well-rounded in both defense and offense, with many homeruns from Margie Mock and Paula Kammerer. The 1983 team will be lead by returning players Lane Neely, Debbie Newman, Karen Mallard, and Shelia Childers.

BASKETBALL:

Boys Varsity

The 1982-83 Varsity Boys Basketball team finished their season with a 4 and 20 record. Under the leadership of Coach Jim Suddath, the boys did very well considering they were a young team. They participated in the first annual War Eagle Basketball Classic held at Woodward Academy. The team was led by senior Clark Spratlin and juniors Will Jones, Dodd Davis, Chris Turner, Norman Smith and David and Danny Greene. Gaining valuable experience this year, the 1983-84 basketball team is looking forward to a very successful season with many talented players returning.

Boys J.V.

The Junior Varsity Boys Basketball team finished their season with an overall and record. The team, under the leadership of Coach Ralph Crist, had a wide variety of young talent. The players went through a learning experience this year, giving each member valuable playing time. While the team looks forward to a better 1983-84 season, the Varsity squad will profit from the experienced players who will move up.

BASKETBALL:

Girls Varsity

The Varsity Girls Basketball team finished their season with a 9 and 13 record. Under the leadership of Coach Don Cardell, the girls showed very promising talent. Each game they played was very close, some going into overtime. The team was led by such talented players as senior Teri Naff, Kelly Dowdy, Lane Neely, Rhonda Goldsmith, Letitia Plummer, Paula Kammerer and Margie Mock. The girls are looking forward to the upcoming 1983-84 season.

Girls J.V.

The JV Girls Basketball team, under the leadership of Coach Rusty Zaring, had a season record of 6 and 8. Like the Varsity, their games were very close. The team was lead by their dynamite guard, Karen Mallard, who could be seen dribbling the ball down the court at full speed. The players gained valuable experience which will help them as they move up to Varsity.

SWIMMING:

Boys And Girls

The Woodward Academy 1982-83 swimming and diving teams were in great form this season, all having a 3-1 record. The team is divided into boys and girls with Kevin Greaney coaching the boys and Tom Howick coaching the girls. Their victories came over such schools as Towers, Pace Academy and Morrow. The swimmers participated in the Emory Invitational where 59 schools from Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky competed. The War Eagles placed eleventh overall. Along with the swimmers, the diving team did very well. The divers were led by Jon Bales, who is undefeated in dual meet competition and placed 2nd at the Emory Invitational. Janet Gould and Tricia Vanderslice are also on the diving team. Standing out for the swimmers were senior Leslie Hubbard, Otis Blake and Mike Shehee, who all did exceptionally well. Coach Greaney is looking forward to next season as the junior varsity swimmers move up to the varsity team.

WRESTLING:

Varsity Wrestling

The 1982-83 Varsity Wrestling team completed a very successful dual meet season by compiling an overall 12-3-1 record against extremely tough competition. Led by 1982 Scholastic All-American Pete Fritts (undefeated for four years) the War Eagle grapplers posted victories over Westminster, Rockdale County, M.D. Collins, Marist, McIntosh, Russell, Woodland, Palmetto, Stockbridge, Coffee County, Henry County and Brookwood. Their only losses came at the hands of defending AAA State Team Champion Fitzgerald, defending AA State Team Champion Feldwood and emerging AAAA power Valdosta by one team point. Only a last minute comeback allowed Troup (defending State AAA Runners-up) to salvage a tie against the War Eagles. In addition to Fritts, a four time State AAA Champion with an overall record of 101 wins and 0 losses, the team was bolstered by seniors Charlie Pyke (17-7), Jorge Enderica (13 and 13), John McMillian (24 and 6), Andy Richardson (9 and 6), John Sumner (7 and 7), Destry Holmes and Tim Mallard.

This group of seasonal veterans and impressive newcomers formed a solid nucleus on which to build this year's championship team. Following a fourth place finish in the South Metro Tournament and a third place trophy in the War Eagle Invitational, our grapplers upset reigning Area Champion Troup 191 to 176½ to claim the 1983 Area IV AAA Team Championship. This victory also qualified eleven of fourteen team members for the State AAA Championships.

Freshman Mike Stock (19-9), sophomores Jeff Miller (23-1), and Steve Barton (5-3) and juniors Chuck Martino (24-3-1), David Cooper (19-8) and Mark Linder (20-5-1) joined the senior quintet of Fritts, Pyke, Enderica, McMillian and Richardson in route to the State AAA Tournament. At the state tournament the War Eagles finished 10th out of 62 teams with 48½ points. Pete Fritts won his fourth consecutive state title in the 112 pound class and broke the national high school record with over 100 consecutive victories and no losses. Junior Chuck Martino placed third in the 126 pound class with sophomore Jeff Miller contributing two comeback victories in the 155 pound class before losing out in the quarter finals.

Next season's outlook is very encouraging with fifteen underclassmen returning. Coach Fritts will miss however, the experience of seniors' Charles Pyke, Jorge Enderica, John McMillan, Destry Holmes, John Sumner, Andy Richardson and Tim Mallard, as well as his son Pete.

WRESTLING:

Junior Varsity

The Junior Varsity Wrestling team had an experience-gaining season with an overall record of 2 wins and 6 losses. Under the leadership of Coach Steve Reed, the team placed 4th in the South Metro Tournament, and 3rd in the War Eagle Invitational. Outstanding wrestlers on the team were Lee Miles, Brian Russo and Ty White. Two team members, Steve Barton and Ken Ethridge, did an outstanding job, allowing them to move up to the Varsity team and gain valuable experience. The team also had four 8th graders on the team. They were Todd Browning, Brenin Humphreys, Bart Baker and Cameron Brian. Next year will prove to be even more exciting with six boys returning.

GYMNASTICS

Girls Gymnastics

The Girls Gymnastics team, coached by Rick Boyer, attempted to hold last year's record of 8-0. Returning gymnasts were Nancy Randolph, Nancy LeBey, Euodia Rambo,Jamie Dinnerstein, Kim Westbrook, Marianne McClurkin, and Sandi Weinstein. New gymnasts included Debra Davidson, Vanessa Crawford, and Tricia Vanderslice. This year, the girls worked toward a state championship, which Coach Boyer felt was possible. Long, tiring practices and demanding workouts led the girls on to victory once again.

Boys Gymnastics

The Boys Gymnastics team, coached by Rick Boyer, went for a fourth state championship to complete four years in a row. Returning gymnasts were Barry Applegate, Paul Longino and Spider Maxwell. The boys, through the guidance of Coach Boyer defended their title at the state meet.

TENNIS:

As last year's Region Champions, both the boys and the girls tennis teams looked forward to a rough challenging schedule. The 1982-83 Boys' Varsity team achieved another great season led by Senior Daid Hall. Coached by Mr. Howard Janke, the players who survived the grueling try-outs, began practice in early spring.

The girls' team coached by Miss Ellen Lanier, returned with most of the 1982 squad intact. Senior Dale Blonder, who placed 3rd in the Srate march in doubles last year, and Robin Richards led the girls again this year. The experience of last years players helped the girls tremendously as they planned to repeat last years performance. The team's main objective was to bring home to Woodward a second region championship.

MIDDLE SPORTS:

The Middle School has integrated the many areas of varsity athletics into their after-school intramural program. This program is designed to prepare students both mentally and physically for varsity-level competition as well as to provide students with an enjoyable outlet.

The Middle School Cheerleaders, under the direction of sponsor, Mrs. Janie Routledge, cheered the Middle School football teams on, as well as entertaining spectators at the afternoon games. Captain for the squad was Gina Gray, with Danielle Pilling serving as Co-Captain. Joining the cheerleaders, were the members of the Drill Team, who, under the leadership of Mrs. Cindy Bowers, entertained spectators with precision routines. Danielle Reiser served as captain, Julie Lewis as Co-Captain, Kathy Smith as 1st Lieutenant, and Amy Bradford as 2nd Lieutenant. The Girls Basketball Team, led by Coach Scott Crook, competed successfully on an interscholastic level.

MIDDLE SPORTS:

The Middle School Wrestling Team, under the direction of Coach Steve Reed, completed it's fourth undefeated season. These young grapplers have shown the talent necessary to supply the Upper School Wrestling Team with continued victories.

The Middle School Soccer Team, led by Coach Mike Murphy practiced with the high school teams. The Soccer team, along with the track and basketball teams, competed on a local, interscholastic level, with outstanding results. In addition to being exposed to the excitement of competition, students involved in the Middle School sports program were taught the qualities of good sportsmanship. The Middle School athletic program drew a large number of participants for the afternoon games, both on the playing field as well as in the stands. All students enjoyed the experience while learning motor control, physical dexterity and gaining a sense of comradeship with their fellow teammates.

BUSEY SPORTS:

The Busey School Intramural sports program, under the direction of Coaches Mark Rothstein and Karen Cooley, provided after school fun for Busey students. Students were encouraged to take part in a variety of sports such as softball, volleyball and soccer. With 100% participation of the 4th through 6th grades, the intramural program provided a basic foundation for good physical education.

Is There Life After High School

Year after year many graduating seniors face the question, "Is there life after high school?" The answer to this dilemma is obviously "yes", it simply becomes more difficult. Along with the joy of successfully completing secondary education, young graduates are challenged by decisions having long term effects.

During the senior year of high school, several important decisions must be made. Seniors must decide whether they will attend college, seek vocational training or get a job. Regardless of the alternatives chosen, attainment of that goal is yet another problem. Each student faces the questions, "Will I be successful?" and "What will satisfy my wants and needs for the remainder of my life?" Each individual will have a different answer to each question therefore, each senior must plan ahead for himself. Although counselors and advisors exist, the final choice is left up to the young adult, the only person who knows what will best fit his lifestyle.

One must realize that the high school years are unlike any others. Upon graduation, friends will be separated as each individual goes their own way. As the new life begins, new friends will be made and old ones forgotten. A cloistered world will no longer exist as the graduate faces the world alone.

The answer to the question, "Is there life after high school?" is still "Yes", but the quality of that life is now dependent on the student's ability to utilize the skills and knowledge instilled in him during his years at Woodward Academy. The choices are now his own.

Vintage Eagles: Aged To Perfection

Probably the most exclusive group on campus, the Alpha-Omega club represents those students whose entire academic career has been spent at Woodward. Given the rare opportunity of ongoing exposure to the Academy's multi-faceted programs, these seniors represent a cross-section of the finest of leadership ability and a continuation of the Woodward Academy desire to succeed.

Class Of 1983 Expresses Appreciation To Mrs. Missy Sanchez

Each year the senior class selects that faculty or staff member who they feel has made the most significant contribution to their high school years. The Class of 1983 selected Mrs. Anne "Missy" Sanchez as that faculty member. Mrs. Sanchez began her career at Woodward in 1977 as a chemistry teacher. She began working as a student counselor in 1980. Ms. Sanchez and her husband, Larry, are the proud parents of Scott, a fourth grader at Woodward, and one and a half year old Susannah. For her tireless hours of work, endless enthusiasm, and continuing encouragement, The Class of 1983 expresses their appreciation and love to Mrs. Sanchez.

1983
Phoenix Tribute
Mrs. Bobby Alford

Since 1974, the Phoenix, has selected, for the Phoenix Tribute, those outstanding individuals who have provided Woodward Academy with true dedication and unselfish service. The 1983 Phoenix Tribute unquestionably goes to someone who has contributed to the GMA/Woodward Academy community since 1956 — Mrs. Bobby W. Alford.

Mrs. Alford has served GMA/Woodward Academy well as an English instructor and as chairman of the English Department. Her love and devotion to her subject, her school and her students is evident in the first few moments of conversation with her. Mrs. Alford has successfully instilled in her students those qualities and skills they will need for future growth. In educating her students, she has passed along the traditions of the Academy's past while building foundations for the future. Mrs. Alford's dedication combined with her enthusiasm has endeared her to the hundreds of students, faculty and alumni who have had the privilege of knowing her.

With great pride and love, the 1983 Phoenix Tribute is presented to Mrs. Bobby W. Alford.

Special Tribute
Mr. James A. Colquitt

On May 24, 1982, Mr. James A. Colquitt, '36 stepped down as Chairman of the Woodward Academy Governing Board, after serving in that capacity for 25 years. Mr. Colquitt's association with the Academy began in 1935 as a cadet at Georgia Military Academy. Upon graduation from G.M.A. he attended the University of Georgia where he became an avid Bulldog fan, which he remains today. In 1951 he was elected to serve on the Academy's Governing Board and in 1957 was elected to the position of chairman of that board. Mr. Colquitt's twenty-five years of service as chairman saw many changes in the Academy. His able leadership was instrumental in steering the Academy through the crucial years of change from the all-male Georgia Military Academy to the college-preparatory, co-educational Woodward Academy of today. In 1969 he was recognized by the Alumni Association as a Distinguished Alumnus for his service to the Academy, to the community and for his contributions to the business community as chairman of the board of Colquitt, Owen and Stephens Insurance Company. Mr. Colquitt and his wife, Betty, have been a familiar and pleasant sight on campus for many years, with Mr. Colquitt presenting the diplomas at graduation each year. The Academy's football stadium bears the Colquitt name, and attending the annual Fall Sports Banquet has always been one of Mr. Colquitt's favorite "duties". His contributions to GMA/Woodward Academy are countless. For his sincere devotion to the Academy, the "Woodward Family" and all that they stand for, the Phoenix would like to pay tribute to Mr. James A. Colquitt.

Advisors' Note: The 1983 Phoenix staff has proven to be a hard-working, talented group of students. Each of these students has made a significant contribution to the completion of this book. A yearbook such as the 1983 Phoenix is a monumental undertaking, requiring endless hours of work. The going was made much smoother and infinitely more enjoyable by these students. We must mention Debbie Newman who began this year as a novice to yearbooks, and learned the intricasies of yearbooking faster than anyone in the history of yearbooks. Debbie stepped in to help Sherry, going beyond what was required of her. Debbie and Sherry gave up countless weekends and evenings for the 1983 Phoenix, a yearbook of which we can all be proud.
